

WA-I-507 Brick House

Late 19th century

St. James Village

Private

The Brick House is a three-bay by two-bay structure which appears to have been an early brick farm house that has been remodeled recently. Currently the house has a gable and main facade with a side entrance. Two windows are on the first story and three windows on the second story underneath the gable roof of this main section. On the north side of this section is a wing which may be the original ell of the farmhouse. The wing is covered with ivy and has a modern picture window on the first floor. On the south side of the main section is a recent addition with a large picture on the first floor and a small window on the second floor.

The brick house is a three-bay by two-bay structure which appears to have been an early brick farm house that has been remodeled recently. Currently the house has a gable and main facade with a side entrance. Two windows are on the first story and three windows on the second story underneath the gable roof of this main section. On the north side of this section is a wing which may be the original ell of the farm house. The wing is covered with ivy and has a modern picture window on the first floor. On the south side of the main section is a recent addition with a large picture on the first floor and a small window on the second floor. The original section appears to have been built in the late 19th century.

The property is located on Sumerlin Drive, .2 mile west of Rt. 65 in St. James Village. St. James Village is a large subdivision of modern homes. This older house sits in the middle of the subdivision. The current main facade faces east.

The property is built of brick in stretcher bond. A brick chimney rising from the gable end which contains the entrance indicates that the house probably was built in the L-shape farm house style of the region. However, several remodelings have occurred to the house and have involved the application of modern materials.

Prepare both a summary paragraph of significance and a general statement of history and support.

Based on the MHT Survey Matrix, this is a mid-level site. It appears that 20th century alterations have significantly altered a mid-to-late 19th century regional farmhouse at this site.
